Soundings is the story of the enigmatic, unknown woman behind one of the greatest achievements of the 20th century. Before Marie Tharp, geologist and gifted draftsperson, the whole world, including most of the scientific community, thought the ocean floor was a vast expanse of nothingness. In 1948, at age 28, Marie walked into the newly formed geophysical lab at Columbia University and practically demanded a job.

The book opens with a young boy hearing a sound — a card catching on bicycle spokes. The author explains that the “ card moves back and forth very fast ” and that both card and spokes are making a sound because they are vibrating. Turn the page and there ’ s another sound, this time made by a cricket. “ Its wings vibrate. That ’ s what ...
